Artificial Human Eyes,

Adjusted without pain, by Dr. Spencer, Dentist, 254 Penn street.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]
No. 188 KENZIE STREET, CHICAGO.

To the Editor:—I think it a duty I owe to the public, as well as to Dr. Hunter and his practice of treating the lungs by direct means, to state some facts regarding the treatment of my case some six years since from New York.

My health commenced seriously to fail in 1852. Thinking a change of climate would benefit me, I came to Chicago in 1853. Instead of improving, however, I continued failing, until the worst form of diseased lungs developed itself in unmistakable symptoms. I had at various times hemorrhages of the lungs, copious purulent expectorations, night sweats, hectic fevers, constant cough, and prostrating diarrhea. So reduced had I become, that at times I had to be bolstered up, lest I should be suffocated by the profuse expectoration, which was very offensive in its character.

I had been treated in the ordinary manner by physicians from the earlier stages of the disease, but without avail, and they now considered me beyond the reach of medicine. All felt that I had but a few weeks to live, while I felt certain myself that such was my doom.

It was under these circumstances I wrote to Dr. Hunter of New York, whose views on the treatment of the lungs by Inhalation I had read when I had resided near that city. I received his reply, asking some questions, which I answered immediately, and soon afterwards received medicines and inhaling instrument with full directions. This was early in 1856. I commenced at once, and from the first began to feel that the medicines sent me were acting on the lungs in a manner I had never before experienced. I began to improve, to the wonder of both friends and physicians, and this improvement went steadily on, until the symptoms I have described gradually disappeared. My strength began to return, and the lungs once more performed their functions healthily, so that in three months I was able to go to my office again; and still I went on improving until my health was completely restored. While under Dr. Hunter's treatment I gained in weight about twenty pounds, and have gained further since; in fact, I have continued in good health ever since—such health as I had not known for years before.

I have no hesitation in saying, that had it not been for Dr. Hunter's treatment of my case, by Inhalation, I must certainly have died within a few weeks from the time I first consulted him. Many of my fellow-citizens of Chicago knew my case well; and I state these facts in detail because I think some poor invalid, suffering as I did, may, by the same means, be restored to such health as I now enjoy.

Yours, respectfully, J. F. COOK.

Consumption.

Our son, James Painter, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, No. 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.

MARY ANN PAINTER.
Temperanceville, Sept. 5th, 1866.

A GREAT CURE BY DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP. I live in Peebles township, Allegheny county. I had a cough and spitting, which commenced about the fourth of February last, and continued eighteen months. I employed the best physicians in the country, and my cough continued unabated until early in October. At that time I was advised to try your Pectoral Cough Syrup, which I did, and after I had taken one bottle, I was entirely free from the coughing and spitting. I had despaired of ever getting well, and I think that it should be known that this valuable remedy will do for others what it has done in my case. JOHN C. LITTLE.

Witness—R. M. KERR, Peebles township.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP.

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased to violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she now has no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself for a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

The Liberals Closing Around Queretaro—Letter from Escobedo—He Thinks Three Days will Finish Up the Work—Discord Among Imperial Officers, &c.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Herald's San Luis Potosi (Mexico) correspondent of March 9th, says: The Liberals, in front of Queretaro are rapidly closing in around the city to give the coup de grace to the empire.

Escobedo writes that on the 6th instant he had closed in his lines upon the city of Canana, occupying the west and southwest, along a line of elevations which command the city, and Trevino, with the army of the north, occupying the west and northwest of the place.

All was expected to be ready for an assault to-day, and in a letter to Minister Lerdo, Escobedo states that he believes it will not require more than three or four days longer to finish up the work at that point. He says that while closing his troops around the place, large clouds of dust were observed, as if the Imperial army was retreating for Mexico, but this cloud returned towards Queretaro as soon as it was evident that it might be outflanked. He also states that there is the greatest discord prevailing among the Imperial officers, that they are divided in council, and cannot determine what measures to take, and that the army is amost in a starving condition.

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

Special Correspondence to Pittsburgh Gazette.
HARRISBURG, April 4, 1867.

The question of consolidation brought large delegations of prominent citizens of Pittsburgh and Allegheny to the State's capital. The Alleghenians stoutly opposed the measure and plainly told their polished Senator that "the thing couldn't and shouldn't be did." They spoke on behalf of the Councils of your sister city and were about as earnest in the matter as men could be. Some of them, however, admitted to me that they believed in the policy of consolidation, but felt that the citizens of Allegheny had a right to have a voice upon the subject. It appears that the bill had been framed by Major Wade, of your city, submitted to the Board of Trade, and shown to a few well known "consolidationists" and forwarded here without ever hinting to Allegheny that such a movement was afoot. This was hardly generous, but the fact that more decided opposition was expected from the Alleghenians, will excuse the gentlemen concerned for their practice of sharp tricks.

THE CLANS MEET.

The highly respectable and august body of anti-consolidationists from Allegheny had hardly knocked the dust from their traveling boots, till a more numerous and equally respectable body of friends of the bill arrived from Pittsburgh. The shrewd 'Squire Steele headed the latter delegation, and openly proclaimed that his party meant work, and, come weal or woe, the bill must pass. Allegheny had long enough staved off action upon so important a measure, and consolidation must rule. The Allegheny delegates looked blank at this declaration, coming from the mouthpiece of Pittsburgh interests, and raved and scolded, declaring that they would not be bamboozled into any arrangement for submitting the important measure to the popular vote—they couldn't see it. The discussion of the merits of the question, the mutual advantages to accrue to both cities from the passage of the act, invariably ended in loud talk and warm words, and sometimes personal encounters were feared. Finally, it was agreed upon both sides that a meeting of the friends and foes to the bill should be held in one of the parlors of the Lochiel House, where a general expression of feeling might be obtained.

THE MEETING.

It seemed remarkably strange that the councils (for the respective delegations were made up out of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Councils) of the "sister cities" should come all the way to Harrisburg to "joint session" over a matter of such public importance. But they met, and speeches for and against consolidation were made by several gentlemen, and the meeting resulted in neither compromise nor understanding. To the tune of "old hundred" the delegates marched out of the parlors, and in knots gathered about the hotel and renewed the points in discussion.

NEW TACTICS.

The next happy thought which struck the "constituents" was to stir Senator Bigham into a proper appreciation of the difficulty which surrounded the bill and the great danger of its being killed. Several of the delegates hunted up the noble Senator, and before him proceeded to lay their plans for outwitting the opposers of the bill. But he whispered to them in his sweetest tones, that "the bill shouldn't be killed," and he would champion it upon the floor of the Senate. He could see no danger of its being killed, for he would tell Brother Graham that his election as Speaker of the next Senate depended mostly on his position upon the question of consolidation. Having Mr. Bigham worked up to the fighting point, the Pittsburgh Committee retired, with the understanding that he was to find Senator Graham and talk war and vengeance to him until he would recede from his position. Imagine the chagrin of the committee who had spurred Brother Bigham up to desperation, as they supposed, hobnobbing with Mr. Graham and laughing the matter over, at his leisure. But the bill was passed, as Mr. Graham intended it should pass, for he had "set up" the Senate even previous to the arrival of either of the delegations. The free bridge proviso was inserted at the instance of the friends of the bill. It is thought that this feature alone will carry Allegheny and the boroughs on the South bank of the Monongahela for consolidation. It will appeal strongly to the working classes, and indeed to all who are annoyed with toll paying. The bill will probably go through the House on Friday with no amendments.

EXPLANATION.

Mr. Waddell, the active and appreciated member of the House from Chester, desires it to be known that he was not the originator of the movement increasing the pay of members. He merely introduced the bill from the Committee on Ways and Means, and of course is not to be held accountable for it. He cast his vote against granting any increase of pay.

THE FREE BRIDGE.

A strong movement is being made to have the Irwin street Bridge bill taken up before the close of the session. It is a shame that the few capitalists interested in the suspension bridge succeeded in preventing action upon this bill.

PRIVATE BILLS.

More than a thousand bills on the calendar will not be reached this session. The time of the Legislature is now very limited. The pinchers are to be pitied, but only the gamest of fowls can be shoved through in the remaining days for legislation.

SUPREME COURT CASE.

The case of the steamer Wm. Bagaly, and cargo, captured in 1863, and condemned and sold in New Orleans, in 1864, and the money, some $213,000, paid into the Registry of the Court, was argued in the Supreme Court today. It comes by appeal from the Eastern District of Louisiana, taken by Joshua Braydon, of New Albany, Indiana. The vessel and cargo, at the beginning of the rebellion, belonged to Cox, Brannard & Co, of which firm Braydon was a member, owing one-sixteenth. He, however, remained loyal, and his property, in Mobile, was confiscated by the rebels. The remainder of the firm remained in Mobile, and ran vessel and cargo through the blockade. She was captured near Havana. Henry Crawford, of Indiana, argued the case for Braydon, S. D. Cox, for other partners, and Assistant Attorney General Ashton, for the Government. The case will be submitted to-morrow.

RECONSTRUCTION AND THE SUPREME COURT.

A bill is to be filed by Judge Sharkey and Robert J. Walker, in the Supreme Court of the United States, to-morrow, consisting of the complaint of the State of Mississippi in behalf of herself and such other States as may be interested in the premises, who shall, by consent of the Court, make themselves parties here against Andrew Johnson, a citizen of Tennessee, and President of the United States, and also against Gen. E. O. C. Ord. The petition sets forth at length the history of the formation of the State of Mississippi, claiming, besides the protection of the constitutional rights of a State, that there are compacts fundamental, irrevocable and unalterable, securing forever to the State of Mississippi her rights as a State in this Union. By such compacts and the rights acquired under them, the petitioners believe this Court will regard it its duty to maintain in the same manner, at least, as it would enforce between individuals by injunction or otherwise, the specific performance of contracts. Averment is made that the Congress of the United States cannot constitutionally expel Mississippi from the Union, and that any attempt which practically does so is a nullity, and that there is no provision in the Constitution of the United States which subjects her, as a State, to any pains, penalties, or forfeitures, as a consequence of such void attempt of a portion of her people to withdraw her from the Union, all powers to punish a State by expulsion or otherwise, for any cause, having been expressly refused in the Convention which framed the Federal Constitution. She avers that her citizens lost none of their political rights, nor incurred any penalties, except what might be inflicted on them as individuals by due process of law after trial by jury. She avers that she exhibited in good faith adhesion to the Constitution by electing Senators and Representatives to Congress, and complains they have been wrongfully excluded, and that her people have been compelled to pay taxes and bear the burdens of the government without representation. The act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, and the act supplementary thereto, utterly annihilate the State Government, by Congress assuming the power to control, modify and even abolish its government, in short, to exert sovereign power over it, and the utter destruction of the State must be the consequence of their execution. The scope of power vested in the Military Commanders is so broad, so comprehensive, as was never before vested in a military commander in any government which guards the rights of its citizens or subjects by laws. The bill of complaint concludes as follows: Now the complainant expressly charges that from information and belief the said Andrew Johnson, President, in violation of the Constitution, and in violation of the sacred rights of States, will proceed, notwithstanding his veto, and as mere ministerial duty, to the execution of said acts, as though they were law, and such vetoes prove he would not do if he had any discretion, or that in doing so he performed anything more than ministerial duty; with a view to the execution of said acts, the said Andrew Johnson has assigned military commanders to the several districts, to carry into complete execution, and for this purpose has assigned General E. O. C. Ord to the command of the States of Mississippi and Arkansas, whom the complainant prays may be a defendant to this bill, and served with all proper process, &c.; and complainant further avers that said General E. O. C. Ord will speedily enter on the dishcarge of said duties, unless restrained by this honorable Court.

A Lottery Case.

RECONSTRUCTION.

Union State Convention in Arkansas—Radical Platform Adopted—The President Not Endorsed.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The Herald's Little Rock special of yesterday says: The State Union Convention has been in session all day and evening. A platform with resolutions was adopted of an ultra Radical character, approving the Congressional plan of Reconstruction and readmission to the Union.

Resolutions commending the President, opposing confiscation and recommending a conciliatory course toward rebels were tabled.

A State Central Committee was appointed and instructed to establish a State Union organization.

The Committee appointed to wait upon General Ord reported that he heartily approved the object of the Convention, and was desirous of co-operating with them. The Convention will doubtless adjourn to-morrow.

Pending the Convention, a large meeting of freedmen was held on State House Square. Several delegates and colored speakers addressed them. Great enthusiasm prevailed and no disturbance was created.

Negro Celebration at Yorktown—Melee—A Colored Man Killed—Store Burned Maliciously.

FORTRESS MONROE, April 1.—The colored population of Yorktown and vicinity celebrated the passage of the Reconstruction bill on Saturday by a procession.

Two soldiers of the Fifth Artillery, while intoxicated, came in contact with some colored men, who were not in the procession. A melee ensued, and the soldiers discharged their revolvers into the procession. They were attacked and in taking away the revolvers one was discharged and a negro killed, whether accidently or not is unknown. The soldiers were arrested on a charge of murder. The store of Mr. Waterman, formerly lieutenant in a colored regiment, who excited the enmity of his neighbors by a marrying a daughter of one of the prominent residents of James City county, Virginia, was burned Saturday night by some inhabitants.

Senator Wilson in Virginia.

PETERSBURG, VA., April 4.—Senator Wilson addressed a large assemblage in front of Jarnett's Hotel to-night. The colored element was largely predominant and made enthusiastic manifestations. Senator W. spoke upwards of an hour, proclaiming himself radical and entirely committed to radical principles. He said the negro was now as much a citizen of the United States as the President, and entitled to all the privileges of the white man. He disclaimed all intention on the part of Congress and the North to degrade or humiliate the South by measures of re-construction, but rather aimed to elevate the lowly and oppressed.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

New Line of Steamers—Revenue Difficulty Adjusted—Nevada Legislature—The Ratification of the Russian Treaty Hoped For—The Press on the Subject.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 4.—The Times says it is reported that a new line of steamers from New York via Panama will shortly be put on. The preliminaries are being already arranged and the steamers are in readiness. Whether the recent consolidation of the coast lines has anything to do with this we are not advised.

The recent seizure of Chinese goods, valued at half a million of dollars, for an attempt to defraud the revenue, has been adjusted satisfactorily to all parties, and the goods released.

The Nevada Legislature, yesterday, adjourned the special session. The object for which it was called, the passage of a revenue bill, was accomplished, though not in a satisfactory manner.

It is the opinion here that the Russian treaty should be ratified. The fishery interests are immense, and prospectively the possessions would be worth millions to the San Francisco trade in the hands of our Government. The newspapers are unanimously in favor of the treaty.

The Bulletin says: The extension of the Pacific coast line would place the United States in a most advantageous position in reference to the relation of commerce, while the political value is sharply emphasized by the British Monarchial Confederation Scheme.

The Alta Californian says the political significance of the change of ownership of the territory to either Government interested cannot bear the least comparison to its commercial importance.

The Times thinks the acquisition of this territory of the first importance to the American people.

Ann Crogan, in a suit for seduction and promise of marriage against Thomas Conway, in the New York Common Pleas Court, has obtained a verdict for $1,000 damages.

A correspondent has seen John H. Surratt in prison and reports him as being treated more like a gentleman than as an assassin. Surratt remarked that he considered his escape to Canada a neat thing, and said that the reports of his doings in Europe were mostly true. He declined to say anything about his connection with the assassination plot. He regards St. Marie as his enemy, and a treacherous fellow. Very naturally, he having given the information which prevented Mr. Surratt continueing his "doings" abroad, in order that it might be demonstrated whether or not his "doings at home" were connected with the assassination conspiracy.

The New York Chamber of Commerce yesterday adopted resolutions in favor of the continuance of the Secretary of the Treasury's system of contraction.

Witnesses in Court.

Of all unfortunate people in this world, none are more entitled to sympathy and commiseration than those whom circumstances oblige to appear upon the witness stand in Court. Here is a picture, drawn by a contemporary, and a very accurate one it is, of the pleasure of being a witness: "You are called to the stand and place your hand upon a copy of the Scriptures in sheepskin binding, with a cross on one side and none on the other, to accommodate either variety of the Christian faith. You are then arraigned before two legal gentlemen, one of whom smiles at you blandly because you are on his side, the other eyeing you savagely for the opposite reason. The gentleman who smiles proceeds to pump you of all you know, and having squeezed all he wants out of you, decently hands you over to the other, who proceeds to show you are entirely mistaken in your suppositions, that you have never saw anything you have sworn to; that you never saw the defendant in your life; in short, that you have committed direct perjury. He wants to know if you have ever been in State prison, and takes your denial with the air of a man who thinks you ought to have been there. Asks you all the questions over again in different ways, and tells you with an awe-inspiring severity, to be careful what you say. He wants to know if he understood you to say so and so, and wants to know whether you meant something else. Having bullied and scared you out of your wits, and convicted you in the eyes of the jury of prevarication, he lets you go. By and by everybody you have fallen out with is put on the stand, to swear that you are the biggest scoundrel they ever knew, and not to be believed under oath. Then the opposing counsel, in summing up, paints your moral photograph to the jury, as a character fit to be handed down to time as the type of infamy; as a man who had conspired against innocence and virtue, and stood convicted of the attempt. The Judge, in his charge, tells the jury if they believe your testimony, &c., indicating that there is even a judicial doubt of your veracity, and you go home to your wife and family, neighbors and acquaintances, a suspected man, all because of your accidental presence on an unfortunate occasion. Who would be a witness!

Deck Hand Drowned.—Stephen Spicer, a colored man, employed as a deck hand on the steamer Franklin, was drowned in the Monongahela river on Tuesday evening, by falling off the guards of the boat as she was passing Gray's Landing. Every effort was made by the officers of the boat to rescue him, but he sank before assistance could reach him. The body has not been recovered.

COURT REPORTS.

Oyer and Terminer, &c.

Before Hon. James P. Sterrett.

This Court met Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, and proceeded with jury trials.

THE FORGERY CASE.

The case of J. B. Dawson, indicted for making and uttering a forged draft, with intent to defraud J. K. Caldwell, was resumed, and resulted in the finding of a verdict of "not guilty, the prosecutor, J. K. Caldwell, to pay the costs."

A LARCENY CASE.

E. T. Castle alias Rose was tried for the larceny of forty dollars from a stranger at the Rush House. He admitted having taken the money, and was arrested by officer Jerry Gumbert, but subsequently denied so doing. The jury found a verdict of "not guilty," and the prisoner was discharged by proclamation.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY AND MAYHEM.

George Hall and David E. Hall, brothers, were indicted for felonious assault and battery and malicious mayhem—the former as principal and the latter as aiding and abetting—on oath of Peter Delaney. A difficulty occurred at Felix Lafferty's tavern, on Smithfield street, on the evening of the 7th of June last, in which the Halls and Delaney were concerned. David Hall and Delaney first became engaged, and the former was thrown down. After being separated Delaney was thrown down by George Hall, and while they were on the floor, Delaney pulling out a knife, Hall (George) seized him by the nose with his teeth, destroying its Roman appearance by substituting the Russian termination. Delaney also received a stab in the thigh. Defense was made as to the mayhem on the ground that the biting off of prosecutor's nose was not wilfully and maliciously done by Geo. Hall, but under fear of the knife in the hands of his antagonist, and it was not to be presumed that David Hall could have any knowledge of an intention to commit mayhem, the act having been done in the confusion of a bar-room fight. As to the felonious assault and battery, the cutting of Delany in the hip, there was no evidence as to any knife other than that in the hands of the prosecutor himself. Mr. Marshall, in addressing the jury, said it would not do to decide the case from the stand-point of men who spend their time at home instead of in the bar-room, and to say that the men on trial had no business where they were, and therefore should be punished. The prejudices of men were not to govern them in the jury box, but they were to decide according to the law.

Col. Duff said it was not necessary that George Hall should have had an intention to bite off Delaney's nose. It was enough that he did so, the other circumstances taken into consideration. The defence that the mayhem was justifiable in self defence would not do, the Halls having been the aggressors in bringing on the difficulty, and at the time engaged in an unlawful assault on the prosecutor.

The Court did not think the mayhem excusable on the ground of self-defense, under the facts, as claimed. If the offence was committed while fighting, intentionally, and maliciously, and the jury so believed, the defendant, George Hall, should be convicted. The defendant David Hall could not be convicted unless it was shown he had a knowledge of the intention of his brother, and was present aiding and abetting. Where it became necessary for a party to act in self-defense, before he could rightfully claim immunity for so acting, it must appear that the necessity was not of his own creation, or that he was not the assailing party. As to the other charge, felonious assault and battery, the jury, before they could convict, must believe the intention of defendant, George Hall, was to commit murder, or not so believing might acquit him of the felony and convict him of the unlawful wounding, and, as in the other indictment, David Hall must have been present when the cutting was done, aiding and abetting, before he could be convicted.

The jury had not agreed at adjournment.

Jumped Off and Was Killed.

Edward Westerman, a resident of Michigan, aged twenty years, was instantly killed a the outer depot of the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railway, Wednesday night, under the following circumstances: He was a passenger on the Cleveland Express No. 22, due at 9:20 p. m., and upon the arrival of the train at the outer depot his cousin who was with him and who resides in Allegheny, advised him to jump off, stating that he could do so safely, and thus avoid a long walk back from the Federal street passenger station. Westerman jumped off, and as he did so struck his head against the track scales, crushing his skull and causing instant death. His body rebounded to the track and a portion of the train passing over his left arm mangled it terribly.

Coroner Clawson held an inquest on the body, yesterday, and a verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts, the train attaches being exonerated from any blame.

Woman Garroted and Robbed.

A German woman, giving her name as Gretchen Hoeltzopple, residing on Penn street with a family named Billman, states that whilst returning from the German Theatre (Academy of Music) on Thursday night last, and when in the space between the Irwin House and the Elevator, at the junction of Grant street with Liberty, she was seized by a large man with red whiskers, who, after twisting a handkerchief over her mouth, took from her person a pocket book containing fifteen hundred dollars, and then ran rapidly away. The woman states she did not know and could not identify the man. The sum of money was unusually large to carry about the person, particularly to a place of amusement, and if her story be true, the inference is a fair one that the robber knew of her having it and embraced the opportunity offered, by her returning from the theatre alone, to relieve her of the money.

Deserted His Wife.

A citizen of South Pittsburgh, rejoicing in the unique cognomen of John Smith, was arrested by officer Demler and brought before Justice Barker yesterday charged with deserting his wife. Mrs. Smith alleges that John left their home some six weeks since and although having been frequently importuned to return has failed to do so. The truant husband put forth no defence other than that he was willing to support her who had shared his joys and sorrows for sixteen years, but he would on no condition consent to cohabit with her longer. He was forced to give bail in the sum of $500 for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court. The case will, in our opinion, never come to trial, as the parties are both highly respectable and will no doubt conclude to compromise and avoid a public investigation.

Terrible Explosion in a Coal Pit—Three Men Killed.

The Steubenville Herald of Wednesday says:—A terrible explosion occurred at 7 o'clock this morning, in the coal pit of the Rush Run Coal and Iron Company, at Rush Run, on the P. & C. R. R., eleven miles below this city. We gathered the following facts at the scene of the catastrophe:

For some time past the curbing, or sides of the pit, sixty feet below the mouth, was out of repair, and on an examination by the boss, Mr. James Brown, it was deemed necessary to repair it at once, although not considered actually dangerous. A temporary platform was erected across the pit for that purpose, at a distance of sixty feet below, and made perfectly air tight to prevent the escape of gasses from the chambers beneath. Mr. Brown descended to the platform to see if everything was safe and in a proper condition before the men went down, and found everything, as he thought, in a satisfactory condition. On coming up, Thos. Payne, Luke Harris and Thomas Paton descended with tools to repair the curbing, and in five minutes after they had announced their safe landing on the platform, a most terrible explosion occurred, blowing the beams of curbing, stones and dirt out of the pit, with such force as to lift the roof of the building. Paton was blown out of the pit against the roof, and fell with a mass of timber directly across the bunton over the mouth of the pit, entirely dead and very much burned and disfigured. Several of the workmen standing near the pit were slightly injured and stunned by the falling timbers. The smoke and gas for a time made it impossible to approach the pit. A stream of water, however, was quickly turned in, which purified the air in an hour sufficient to allow workmen to descend. On examination it was found the platform and curbing had wrecked the shaft so as to prevent a passage to the bottom, some two hundred feet below the platform, where the other men had fallen. Up to noon to-day the bodies of Harris and Payne had not been recovered. It is supposed the explosion was the result of carelessness on the part of the workmen, in removing a part of or making a vent in the platform, through which the gas became ignited by the lamps.

Great Excitement in Coshocton—Arrest of Parties Charged with Robbing the Treasury.

It will be remembered that, in January, 1858, says the Coshocton Journal, the treasurer of Coshocton county alleged that he had a shawl thrown over his head, a stick put in his mouth, and bound with a rope by two men, who proceeded to rob his safe of some twenty-two thousand dollars. The first man to go to his rescue was the Sheriff of the county. Though a number of arrests were made, and two men kept in the jail for nearly a year, no convictions were ever effected. A mystery from that day to this, has been hanging over the whole transaction. The Journal and Coshocton Age, for intimating a suspicion that it was not a robbery, had their proprietors, H. D. Cooke and Joe W. Dwyer, prosecuted by the virtuous and indignant Treasurer for damages to his character in the amount of twenty thousand dollars, &c.

During the last few years there has been an individual named Jim Brown, a banker in Coshocton, worth, it is said, $100,000, who has become notorious on account of the frequent indictments found against him for forgery, burglary and perjury. For a year or two he has been residing in Canada, beyond the reach of officers of the law, but on making a sly visit to his home was caught and lodged in jail, but subsequently released on bail. He has been frequently charged with complicity in this treasury robbery, and it is said has frequently threatened to make some exposures if not let alone. This he seems to have done, for we have the rumor to-day that the Treasurer who was robbed, and the Sheriff who went to his rescue, have been arrested for that robbery.

The Attorney General of the State, deeming the evidence of Brown's complicity in this robbery so clear, has commenced suit against him for the amount of the State's portion of the loss.

Amusements.

RISTORI.—The Ristori excitement rivals already the mania created by the advent of the sweet nightingale, Jenny Lind. Every body is talking of the great Italian artiste, and at her present appearances she will be greeted by the most brilliant and fashionable audiences which have ever assembled in Pittsburgh. Pre-eminently superior to any living actress in the world, Ristori, the queen of the stage, had a right to expect from the refined and intelligent American people the series of ovations already paid her wherever she has appeared. To the credit of this locality be it said that genius is appreciated, and that she will be received in as cordial a manner here, and be as fully appreciated among the industrial masses as she has been in more fashionable and metropolitan cities. The sale of seats has been large, but many yet remain unsold, and inasmuch as the present visit of the great Ristori will be the only opportunity ever offered of hearing and seeing her, doubtless every available seat will be closed out before the week closes. The books remain open, and we urge our readers not to delay making their selection, as orders are coming in from all sections for tickets.

OPERA HOUSE.—While we are in giddy excitement over Ristori, we must not lose sight of the fact that the charming young American actress, Emilie Melville, takes her farewell benefit to-night at the Opera House. Her engagement has been a brilliant one, and she has succeeded in winning a host of friends and admirers amongst the amusement lovers. To-night she appears in the beautiful drama of "La Sonnambula," and the popular extravaganza of the "Three Fast Men."

VARIETIES THEATRE.—This popular and now first class place of amusement is drawing fine houses, and no wonder, since it is so capitally managed. An attractive programme is offered to-night, embracing the touching drama of the "Idiot Witness" and interesting olios, dances and other performances of a first class and entertaining order.

CITY HALL.—Fred. Douglas lectures at City Hall, on Tuesday evening next, upon the "Sources of Danger to the Republic." The great colored orator will, doubtless, draw an immense audience.

Of Loafers

The Chronicle thus expresses our opinion: "Possibly nowhere else does the vile breed so flourish as in Pittsburgh. The vermin overrun the city. The pavements are not worn smooth with the walking of live men, but are worn into holes where the loafers stand. The corners are not places of passage, but good places for loafers to lean against. The public doors are not so much a means of ingress and egress as convenient exchanges where loafers may meet and barter their foul stock of obscenity. The city seems in a manner to exist for the convenience of loafers. Every available window stone is black where loafers have sat upon it; every gutter shows the footprints of men and women who have been crowded off the pavement by loafers. Every lady, unless she be deaf, is in constant peril of insult."

Unprovoked Assault.

Charlotte Weiden has been unfortunate in her affections of late, if her veracity is above suspicion, inasmuch as her sisters Nancy, Anna, and Annie Jane Bolsore, whom she avers to entertain a strong love for, attacked her yesterday and beat her in a cruel manner. In vain did she endeavor to account for the assault being made upon her; she had never offended the parties in any way, not even by thought, and this gave her more pain than the blows of the ingrates. Warrants were issued for the arrest of the parties accused.

A Defaulting Boarder.—Mary A. Lindsey came to the office of Alderman Strain yesterday, and made oath against William Blakely for false pretences. It appears the accused obtained boarding from Mrs. Lindsey to the amount of $40 by false and fraudulent representations, declaring that he had a certain amount of money due him from the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad Company, which she afterwards ascertained to be false. Blakely was arrested and held to bail for a hearing.

A Magistrate's Office Robbed.—While Alderman Donaldson was attending Court yesterday a thief entered his office and stole a valise belonging to a colored man named Gerard Galway. The sack was filled with clothing, worth in the aggregate about $40, and consisted of a blue coat with brass buttons, a couple of fine shirts and a pair of boots. A young man was observed to leave the office with a valise in his hand, by a gentleman on the opposite side of the street, during the absence of the magistrate.

Speaking of Loafers, the Chronicle thinks it would puzzle the oldest philosopher to determine "how any individual with human brains in his head," could reduce himself to such a condition. If the inference is intended that "human brains" exist elsewhere than in the heads of individuals, it might be determined in what part of the body of loafers they predominate, particularly in those who monopolize the steps about the Custom House.

For Barratry.—John Lutz, constable, will be tried to-day for barratry, which Blackstone defines as "the practice of exciting and encouraging law suits and quarrels." Conrad Eberhardt, and others who were informed against by Lutz for selling liquor on Sunday, are prosecuting the case. M. Swartzwelder, Esq., is counsel for the prosecution, and Gen. Collier and J. H. Miller, Esq., for the defence.

Street Gossip.

The weather yesterday was very spring-like. In the morning the mists hung low, and the sun struggled in vain for a time to pierce the vapor canopy above the soot begrimmed walls of our city; but as the day advanced the beams of the great illuminator reached the pavements and lit up the great surging sea of humanity, alighting here on a rushing attorney, whose appearance was very suggestive of faded law books and brown parchment, and there on a knot of lawyers on one of the corners, while occasionally a sprightly damsel flirted past the sunlight, kissing into brightness the varied tinted hues of her poplin plaid, and beaming on her chignon as on a ball of silken cordage plaited tightly together and cemented with bear's oil. There was a time when we were gratified with a glimpse of flowing ringlets now and then, but the caprices of those foreigners who are the architects of our fashions have changed all this, and we, as plain conformists, must submit to their dictatorial decrees.

But the fair reader may turn up her pretty nose (there are no ladies with extremely long or pug nasal organs) and tell us we have no right to complain; that, in fact, it is none of our business. But we say it is, and we cannot let matters progress any further without entering our solemn protest. Imagine a sensitive man's feelings on meeting the partner of his bosom done up in short clothes, scolloped around the edges after the manner of an inhabitant of the Celestial Empire, while "woman's chief adornment" is wrapped around a pin-cushion and perched on the top of the head like a miniature hay-stack, while depending from either side dangle something they call curls, but look more like the tails of a half dozen of the porcine tribe. At a first glance you would suppose she had just escaped from some neighboring temple of the drama, where she had been playing in Aladdin or some other oriental production, but at the second, you could not help doubting her saneness and wondering if there was not an invisible hand in the air endeavoring to pull those locks you prized so much out by the very roots, such a strain there seems to be on each stretched hair. Hoops—those graceful appendages to feminine toilets—are rapidly disappearing. They seemed so graceful that we are sorry to knell their doom, yet the fiat has gone forth, and women are to be slender once again.

The Poison Case.

In yesterday's issue we mentioned the fact of a young girl having been poisoned by taking corrosive sublimate, under the impression that it was wine. To-day we are enabled to give the particulars of the affair. The girl's name is Jane Long. She was employed in the family of Mr. Collins as a domestic, and on that gentleman removing from Third street to Duquesne Way, on Wednesday last, she was requested to carry to the new place of abode a basket filled with bottles. When she had done so and was about putting the contents of the basket away, her attention was attracted to a large bottle, which contained a mixture of corrosive sublimate and whisky, used for the purpose of killing bed bugs, and which she, as we have already stated, supposed to be wine. Without a moment's hesitation she placed the bottle to her lips and quaffed the greater part of its contents before she realized her error. She was immediately seized with the most acute pains, which continued until the arrival of Dr. E. Donnelly, who ordered her removal to the Mercy Hospital. During the whole of Wednesday night she continued to vomit, the result of which was a total physical exhaustion.

At a late hour last evening she was still alive though her physicians entertain no hope of her recovery.

Miss Long is a prepossessing girl, not quite twenty years old, and has been in this city but a few years, having come from Ireland, where her widowed mother resides.

The Tables Turned.—Alderman McMasters succeeded in arresting John and Mary Ann Short yesterday, charged on oath of William Smith with assault and battery. A hearing was had in the case, when the Shorts proved conclusively that Smith entered their residence in Manchester and threatened to blow their brains out if they did not accede to some foolish demand made by him. The result was the Shorts were discharged and William held in $300 to keep the peace.

Allegheny Monument Association.—The members of the "Allegheny County Monument Association" met yesterday afternoon, at City Hall, Mrs. McKee Presiding and Miss Fowler acting as Secretary. On motion, Councils were requested to take up the communication at their next meeting which was sent to them through the chairman of the Executive Committee (Gen. Negley). The meeting then adjourned.

The Iron City Monthly.—Owing to the immense labor attending the publication of the first number of the Iron City Monthly, the issue of the same will necessarily be delayed until the 8th of the month, when we hope to be able to fill the numerous orders awaiting attention. George W. Pittock & Co., Publishers, Dispatch Building, 69 Fifth street, Pittsburgh. Postoffice Box, 1,406. See card.

Husband and Wife.—Allen Meyer appeared before Alderman Donaldson yesterday, and instituted legal proceedings against Sarah, his wife, for surety of the peace. The accused was arrested and brought vis-a-vis with her injured better half, when a reconciliation was effected by Allen paying the costs and Sarah promising to deport herself better in the future.

Committed.—Nancy Grady, a young girl residing near McKeesport, on the Monongahela river, appeared before Justice William H. Barker, yesterday, and made an information against Edward Maguire for affiliation. The accused was arrested by Officer Stemler and brought before the magistrate, who committed him to jail for trial in default of $500 bail.

Injured.—A lady in getting out of the Pittsburgh, Birmingham and Brownstown Passenger Railway cars, at the corner of Second and Smithfield streets, yesterday, fell to the pavement and was painfully, though not seriously, injured. Her dress catching in the steps was the cause of the accident. We were unable to learn the name of the woman.

Prisoner Arrived.—John Lennox, who is charged with the murder of R. L. Morrow, in Washington county in the fall of 1856, was lodged in our county jail yesterday, by Sheriff Smith. The Washington jail is insecure, and will shortly be rebuilt. The removal of Lennox is under a Special Act of the Legislature.

A Summary Inquiry was made, yesterday, in the Criminal Court, as to the fact of the insanity of Herman Rau, in order that he might be sent to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital, at Dixmont. The inquest was awarded on the petition of Agnes Rau, the mother. The conclusion was not announced.

Nolle Prosequi means, in plain English, "I do not want to prosecute." On motion of Colonel Duff, the District Attorney, yesterday, a nolle prosequi was entered in the cases of Frank Bopp and Joseph Gauster, of East Liberty, against whom there were indictments for selling liquor to minors.

What's in a Name?—There must be something, else the members of the "Associate Reformed Congregation of Tarentum" would not have petitioned the Court of Common Pleas to change the name to "United Presbyterian Congregation of Tarentum." Their prayer was granted.

Yesterday Afternoon, between three and four o'clock, a team of lilliputian ponies, drawing a miniature Brougham, in which was seated two little girls, passed down Fifth street. The unique turn-out created quite a stir among the fashionable loungers of our Broadway.

Still in the Tombs.—Kelly, whose arrest for robbing his sister-in-law, in Sandusky, Ohio, of $3,000 worth of dry goods, we noticed in yesterday's GAZETTE, is still in the Allegheny tombs. The lady refuses to prosecute in case the prisoner restores to her the missing property.

Held to Bail.—George Kirkpatrick, charged with felonious assault and battery, on oath of officer Busha, had a hearing before Mayor McCarthy yesterday afternoon, which resulted in his being held in two thousand dollars for trial at the June term of the Criminal Court.

A Deck-hand employed on the Monongahela river steamboat Franklin, named Stephen Spicer, was drowned on Tuesday evening by falling overboard as the boat was passing Gray's Landing. An effort was made to rescue him.

FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1867.

THE FUTURE.

The Democratic triumph in Connecticut has revived the desponding hopes of the President and the small coterie of renegade Republicans who make a profitable vocation of selling his patronage, under pretense of practicing law at the National Capital. They now think it possible to break the Radical ascendency in a number of the Northern States, and are preparing to take vigorous measures to that end. The first outward manifestation of this inward feeling and purpose is the announcement that no more Radicals will be nominated to office by the President.

During the last few months great strides have been taken by Congress on a number of most important topics. To be sure this progress has been made in obedience to a ripening popular sentiment; but while the bulk of the Republican party have kept pace with the movement a small minority have not. This explains, assuming the worst aspect to be the only one, what has occurred in Connecticut. On a remarkably full poll, a change in the party relations of scarcely more than a thousand votes, has brought the Democrats into power. And this has happened in New England, a section from which, next to the Northwest, the demand has been loudest for extreme ideas and measures. True, the three most populous counties of Connecticut, and those in which marked change occurred, are in an important sense suburbs of New York; that is, many thousands of men engaged in business in the great metropolis have their residences there, and so impart to the region a political character that would not otherwise pertain to it.

But it is quite probable the unpropitious result is due, not so much to defections among the Republicans, as to increased naturalizations on the Democratic side. There were two thousand colored men anxious to vote the Republican ticket, and save its candidates, but the Republicans denied them the opportunity. A wrong done to these blacks entailed a speedy retribution on the authors of it.

But, how will the case stand it we take the other view? What if, after making all reasonable abatements on the score of fresh naturalizations, and such deductions as may be needful for the unpopularity of some of the candidates, it must be confessed that the election indicates a reaction, not strong and decisive, but sufficient to excite inquiry and cause remedial instrumentalities to be sought after promptly? Hints are thrown out in certain quarters that the Republican leaders must slacken their march. In this we do not concur. They should, indeed, examine the ground on which they stand, to ascertain how far it is solid. Such precaution is in order, whether in the movements of armies or of political parties. But when the ground taken is demonstrated to be solid and defensible, a retreat, no matter how partial, is cowardice. The Republicans did not ruin their present position by being ever and anon frightened at shadows, but by marching resolutely forward at the bidding of Truth and Justice. If in the mutation of affairs it shall fall out that they cannot retain power but by abandoning cardinal principles, or by humiliating and disgraceful abatements thereto, they will consult both Honor and Duty by going into retirement, trusting to the gradual education of the people for ultimate restoration.

The President is not without hope that what has been done in Connecticut can be repeated next autumn in New York and Pennsylvania. In this calculation he relies not exclusively upon general causes, but likewise upon special local influences. For instance, in this State he counts largely on the bad conduct of the present Legislature, and it must be acknowledged that in this he is neither wild nor visionary. Instead of reflecting credit on the Republican party the General Assembly has brought that party into disrepute. It has been courageous in the pursuit of plunder, but base and cowardly in the defence of essential principles. It seems altogether probable that if the nominating conventions do not inflict summary punishment upon so many of the offending members as shall seek to be returned, the people will inflict a merited retribution upon the party. From what we see and hear we judge the former course will be vigorously taken, and that men who have prostituted their positions will be left in the seclusion of private life. But the managers of the party have a high responsibility devolving upon them in this matter. The voters are not in a humor to have their patience trifled with. Nor is dissatisfaction confined to Allegheny county, or to the western portion of the State. Unless we are greatly deceived there is as much complaint in Philadelphia as here, and with as much reason, though the causes are different. Let it be understood that Republican passengers hold the engineers responsible for the safety of the train.

But there is still another view to be taken. The republican party is no longer confined to the northern States. During the past four weeks surprising movements have occurred in North Corolina, Tennessee, Louisiana, and elsewhere at the South. This is but the beginning of what is to be. Before fall the republican party will be fully organized in the ten seceding States. The radicalism that demonstrates in the eastern, middle, western and northwestern States its capacity as a builder of Commonwealths, will show in the South its powers as a restorer of the ruins and wastes of war.

By an order of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, made on Saturday last, Major General Robt. B. Potter was appointed Receiver of the Atlantic and Great Western Railway in Pennsylvania. The General having been previously appointed Receiver by the courts of New York and Ohio, thus becomes Receiver of the whole line from the Erie Railway to Cleveland and Cincinnati. The Receiver is required to operate the lines, to give security in $300,000 for the faithful performance of his duties; and out of the net earnings of the line, to first pay the interest upon the prior or divisional mortgages on the line, and then upon the consolidated mortgage.

It is commonly understood that Legislative Assemblies have power to make laws, but cannot, in any way, delegate that authority. If we mistake not the Supreme Court of this State has decided that an act of Assembly, made contingent on a vote of the people, is not a law and cannot be made one. Did the persons who drafted the Consolidation bill consider this fact?

THE COLORED VOTE.

Under this head the Richmond Whig, of the 1st instant, announces:

"Nearly all the Virginia newspapers we see, and all the individuals with whom we converse, are of the same mind in regard to the policy of the harmonious co-operation of the whites and blacks at the polls."

The line of policy is not concurred in because it is liked, but because it is necessary; for the confession is added:

"All are agreed that if we would not give the field entirely up to the clamorous but cunning and hard-working factions presided over by two or three mendicant adventurers, we will have to take steps to combine the white and colored vote."

It is well when an enlightened selfishness leads men, against their inclinations, to do that which is just and honorable. But it appears that while the class of men who formerly controlled the political destiny of Virginia perceive clearly enough what they ought to do, they are tardy and reluctant in the performance, for it is stated "while all talk in this strain, we hear of no practical measures to bring about this important result."

The "loyalists," on the other hand, are represented as "straining every nerve to consolidate and carry the negro vote." What is better, they are likely to do it. In Washington, where the experiment of negro voting has been tried, they were found to go almost solid for the party of emancipation.

The strong statements made in the House of Representatives by General Butler, as to the mutilation and suppression of the diary of J. Wilkes Booth, found upon his person at the time of his capture, created a marked sensation throughout the country, and resulted in a general demand for the publication of so much of it as remains. The explanation of Mr. Bingham, that it was not produced on the trial because under the rules of evidence it was not admissible, was good as far as it went, but it did not reach far enough. It afforded no solution as to when and by whom the eighteen pages were torn out, or why, after the trial was over, the public was kept in ignorance of its existence and the nature of its contents.

The testimony of Mr. Holt and Mr. Stanton has since been taken by the Judiciary Committee, and it appears the diary was in its present condition when it came into the possession of the authorities; that no reasons exist for believing the missing leaves contained memoranda touching the assassination; that Mr. Holt has had the custody of the book up to the present time; that the entries made in it throw no light whatever on the great crime; and that, such as it is, the diary will be published entire in a few day.

The joint resolution for the appointment of Commissioners to inquire into the various systems of Prison Discipline, with a view to the erection of a new Penitentiary in the central portion of the State, is eminently proper. The existing prisons are insufficient, and the system under which they are managed neither reforms the inmates nor renders the establishments self-supporting.

The House incurred a needless labor yesterday in acting upon the miscalled Free Railroad Bill. The people have asked no enactment of the kind tendered, and will have none of it. They asked a fish, and a serpent is offered them; bread, and a stone is all they are allowed to have. A day of reckoning will swiftly come upon some of the betrayers.

General Rosecrans

The distinguished officer who has recently resigned his rank as Brigadier General in the regular Army will, perhaps, be referred to in after times as a conspicuous witness, if not of the ingratitude of Republics, at least of the fact that war like all other professions, is a good deal of a lottery in which it is not always the deserving who win the substantial rewards. Victor in the first important engagement which resulted favorably to the Union arms in the war of the Rebellion; planner and executor of four distinct campaigns, three of which were eminently successful; hero of several great battles, never decidedly beaten in any engagement, grand and resolute in his patriotism, and idolized by a hundred thousand veterans who fought under him, General Rosecrans, by a strange combination of misfortunes, has never been in favor with his official superiors, and never obtained even from the people a fair recognition of his eminent services. "There are two things," said Abraham Lincoln in 1864, "for which I can never be grateful enough to General Rosecrans: one is the battle of Stone River, which accompanied my proclamation of emancipation, and was the beginning of our permanent success; and the other is his letter to the Indiana Legislature about the same time, throwing all the weight of his name and fame against the Copperheads. For these he deserves the lasting gratitude of the nation." We hope he may receive this gratitude at some future day; he certainly has not had it yet.

It was less than sixty days after the attack upon Fort Sumter when he did us his first great service in Western Virginia by compelling the surrender of Pegram at Rich Mountain. The planning and the fighting were both exclusively his; the reward was given to McClellan. After the Great Delayer had been transferred to the Potomac, Rosecrans fought the battle of Carnifex Ferry, drove Wise, Floyd, and Lee across the mountains, finished the campaign with brilliant rapidity, and when there was hardly a rebel picket left on this side of the Allegheny Mountains, was relieved, for no fault of his own, that a Mountain Department might be created for Gen. Fremont. He fought and won the battle of Iuka, in September, 1862, while his superior officer, Gen. Grant, was lying inactive with his troops four miles from the field of conflict, and although for this engagement he was made a Major General of volunteers, there sprang out of it a misunderstanding with General Grant which has had much to do with the marring of all Rosecrans's subsequent career. The next month at Corinth he beat Van Doran and Price, with but little more than half as many men as his adversaries, gaining the most important victory of the war up to that time. Recalled from the pursuit, greatly against his own judgment, by Gen. Grant, he was relieved of his command nine days after the battle and ordered to Cincinnati.

Two months after his appointment, October 30, to the command of the Fourteenth Corps at Bowling Green, Ky., he had converted a demoralized rabble into a magnificent army, and led it across the Cumberland. The four days' battle of Stone River was won not more by the intrepidity of the soldiers than by the personal valor and skill of Rosencrans himself, and was a magnificent prelude to the brilliant campaign of the summer of 1863, by which he drove Bragg's army out of middle Tennessee, and across the Tennessee River. The battle of Chicamauga in September was a bloody encounter, in which both sides were too badly crippled to continue the fray; but it secured us in the possession of Chattanooga, the objective point of the campaign and the key of all the country south of the Cumberland mountains. Nevertheless, Rosencrans was again relieved of his command, and for several mouths was allowed to remain in obscurity. Then he was sent to Missouri, where, beside doing efficient military service, he discovered the secret conspiracy of the Knights of the Golden Circle. Yet he was once more removed, and has never had a command since.

Whether Gen. Rosecran's unfortunate relations with the War Department and the Headquarters of the Army are to be traced to any fault of his own, we have no means of knowing. We only know that of all our generals he has uniformly been one of the most fortunate in the field, and one of the most unfortunate everywhere else; and that his retirement ought to awaken in us a double regret that we have lost the services of an accomplished officer, and have rewarded so inadequately what he has done for us hitherto.—New York Tribune.

Incest—A Man Runs Away with His Niece and they Cohabit as Man and Wife.

There are few such cases of crime to record as has come to light in this city within a day or two. About a week ago a human being, whom it would be a public disgrace to call a man, came to this city on the night train from the East, in company with a beautiful, innocent and intelligent looking girl, whom he represented as his wife, and upon such representation procured a room at the Huxley House, opposite the Hannibal depot. His age is about forty—her's about sixteen. The apparent discrepancy in their ages excited some remark, but the clerk of the hotel believed the story of their matrimonial relation, and allowed them to stop. They have remained at the Huxley House since, but yesterday their criminal bliss was broken in upon by the arrival of a gentleman claiming to be the father of the "wife," and the brother of the "husband!"

The names of the parties we suppress, out of respect to the outraged father, who, to all appearances, is a respectable, honest man. How he could be a brother to such a villain is a mystery. His story, as related to us, is, that his brother some ten or twelve years ago left a wife in Illinois, and went to California, where he remained until a little over a year ago, when he returned. Without again living with his wife, who is still alive, he comes to visit, and finally live with the brother whose kindred affection he has so foully outraged, and whose family he has disgraced. This brother had a daughter, then about fifteen years of age—too young to go into society or to keep company, and her uncle was allowed to be her escort whenever she went out to places of amusement, or other places of public resort—the father thinking, as he remarked to us, that if she was not safe with her uncle, who could she be trusted with! Like the villain he has proved himself, instead of protecting and cherishing the treasure entrusted to him, he has blasted and ruined it forever, and now the strong arm of the law takes hold of him, while his wretched victim goes back to the dishonored home of her parents to live a life of shameful wretchedness.

The father found the fugitives at the Huxley House, and in conversation with his brother was told that the twain were married, and it would be useless to attempt parting them. He had almost concluded to allow his brother to leave the country unmolested, on condition that his daughter would return to her home, but the matter coming to the knowledge of the legal authorities the incestuous scoundrel was arrested and taken before Esquire Warner, by whom he was allowed a preliminary hearing, and in default of $3,000 was committed to jail.

The penalty for this crime, as laid down in the statute, is imprisonment in the penitentiary for not more than seven years—a penalty about as proportionate to the heniousness of the offence as a $25 fine would be for murder. We heard but one expression of the opinion, yesterday, in regard to the case we have just mentioned, and that was that "hanging was too good for him." All the parties to the above transaction have resided for the past year in Quincy, where the two brothers have been teaming.—St. Joseph (Mo.) Union, March 3.

HEAR REASON!

STRENGTHEN THE DEFENSES.

When a garrison apprehends an attack from an outside enemy, what does it do? It STRENGTHENS THE DEFENCES. The human system, at this season of the year, is beleaguered by morbid influences. The atmosphere is full of them. Every change of weather lays the feeble open to their attacks. What is to be done in order to baffle these unseen, but ever active, foes? STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES. Do you ask how? The answer is simply—the means within the reach of all: Reinforce the vital organs and the nervous system with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. Tone the stomach, regulate the bowels, rouse the sluggish liver, cheer the spirits, enrich and purify the vital current, with HOSTETTER'S BITTERS. That's the way to STRENGTHEN THE DEFENCES, and render the capital of health impregnable. If you wish to escape bilious head-ache, intermittent fever, indigestion, and nervous visitations—to enjoy, in all its plentitude, the blessing of "a sound mind in a sound body," use this incomparable preventive and restorative. It preserves health in the healthy, and renews it in the weak and ailing.

PINUS ABIES, OR CANADA PINE.

There exudes from the inside bark of the White Pine, which grows abundantly in all the Eastern States and Canada, a honey-like, sweet substance, highly imbued with that terebinthinate principle which has long been valued as a remedy, in various diseases of the human body, especially those of the mucuous tissues. Dr. G. W. Sweet, of Boston, has compounded from this material a medicine called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND; which has met with great favor in those maladies where the turpentines and balsams are supposed to be valuable.

For Gravelly Affections.
Diabetes in young or middle aged people.
Diabetes in old people,
Stoppage of the urine.
The same difficulty in children during the night.
Gravel, Kidney Trouble in old people.

Discharge of mucus, or pus, or blood from the bladder.
Bright's Disease of the Kidneys,
Pain in the Kidneys or small of the back.

Poland's White Pine Compound will be found a speedy and permanent cure. It is no less to be valued as a general and bracing constitutional tonic, which imparts its health-giving principles to all the tissues of the body, without sickening or weakening the system in any way, or disturbing any one in his usual avocations.

LYNCH LAW IN INDIANA.

Two Murderers Hung by a Mob—Details of Their Crime and Punishment.

BROWNSTOWN, Ind., April 1, 1867.

At about 12 o'clock of Saturday night last 30th of March, a mob, consisting of about one hundred men on horseback, entered our town, battered down, with a sledge hammer, the doors of the jail of this (Jackson) county took therefrom two prisoners—John Talley and John Brooks—led them, with ropes around their necks, their hands pinioned behind them, iron manacles on their feet, and bareheaded, to the Court yard, and hanged them to a locust tree limb in front of the Recorder's office.

DESCRIPTION OF BROOKS AND TALLEY.

Talley is a man aged about forty years near six feet high, black eyes and hair, dark complexion, intellectual features and a noble specimen of the physical man. Brooks is a medium sized man, black hair and eyes, dark complexion, downcast countenance, about thirty years old. He served a term, some years ago, in the penitentiary for stealing. Talley is generally supposed to be the principal leader of a gang of desperadoes, thieves and robbers, who, for the past several years, have been robbing and murdering citizens of this and Washington and surrounding counties. Brooks, it is understood, has been one of the men to carry out Talley's schemes.

CAUSE OF THEIR IMPRISONMENT.

Talley and Brooks were incarcerated in jail on the charge of having robbed and murdered an insane woman last December, near a small village named Clearspring, ten miles from this town. Brooks was arrested in Washington county, in the month of January, and Talley was arrested in Richview, Washington county, Illinois, in February last.

THE MURDERED WOMAN.

Mrs. Maria Cutler lived, at the time of her murder, in a small log cabin near Clearspring. She was about forty years old, light hair and fair complexion. She was born in the State of Vermont, and was the wife of a lawyer who, after her mental derangement, abandoned her and came West. Some three or four years since, while she was traveling, as she said, in search of her husband, she accidentally called at the house of Mr. Wm. Hamilton, who lives by the road side, not far from Clearspring. Mr. Hamilton's wife at once recognized her as one of her acquaintances when a young woman, in Vermont. At the time she came to Mr. Hamilton's she had recovered from her insanity, and commenced teaching school, but before the session had ended, her mind became so deranged that she had to quit. She had been well educated, and was fluent in conversation, using refined language. She hired a small hut, built winter before last, in the woods, remote from any other dwelling, and lived alone, save the company of her cow and pet sheep, which she kept in the hut with her night and day. These animals had been constantly kept in the hut, day and night, for several months, their food and water having been carried by her to them, so that when she was found the floor was covered with filth to the depth of one foot. She had a great aversion to receiving any gift without paying for it, and would never accept of anything unless a bargain was made as to the amount to be paid. She made her contracts to be paid in knitting socks, and never failed to comply promptly.

WHY AND HOW SHE WAS MURDERED.

Mrs. Cutler had some gold coin and Vermont currency, which she had brought from Vermont with her, which she kept in a belt around her person. The exact amount she had when murdered is not known, but supposed to have been about one hundred and fifty dollars. To get her money was evidently the intention of the robbers. It was known in the neighborhood that she had some six or eight hundred dollars, but the robbers were not aware of the fact that she had loaned the greater part of it to her neighbors.

She was found dead, lying in her bed on one Monday morning in December last. The weather being intensely cold it was at first thought that she had frozen to death. But an examination before the Coroner was had, and no doubts were afterward had but that she had been murdered. Finger prints about her neck showed that she had been choked to death, and the money belt being gone indicated that she had been robbed.

ARREST AND CONFESSION OF BROOKS.

For several weeks no clue could be found to fasten suspicion on any one. A small rope thirty inches in length was found in the bed of the murdered woman, which led to the detection of the guilty parties. This rope was identified as having been seen at the house of Jackson W. Eastin, a Justice of the Peace, who lived about three miles distant from Clearspring. The rope was used by Eastin to keep a rickety chair from coming apart. Two strange men, it was remembered, had been in that neighborhood at the time, but Eastin had vouched for their being all right, as one of them was his brother-in-law, and the other his friend who had been paying him a visit. Eastin had lived there for forty years and was considered above suspicion, no man standing higher than he for honesty and integrity. Inquiry was instituted, however, as to the character of these strangers, Tally and Brooks, and upon ascertaining that they were regarded at home as bad men, the citizens of Clearspring determined to arrest them. Brooks, after his arrest, confessed that Tally and himself had robbed the woman, but said that Tally had strangled her to death against his (Brooks') desire. He stated that Eastin had not participated in the affair further than to give him information about the money and share the spoils, about forty dollars each. He testified to the truth of these statements at the preliminary trial of Eastin, but subsequently denied that they were true, giving as his reason, that he had done so from fear, and threats against him. Tally, as before stated, was then arrested in the State of Illinois and brought here in February, and put in jail along with Eastin and Brooks.

THEIR CASES AT CIRCUIT COURT IN FEBRUARY.

Talley and Brooks were indicted for robbery, and murder in the first degree, and obtained a continuance until the next term of the Court in August. Eastin got a change of venue to Lawrence county, and is now in jail at Bedford. The mob declared that, if he had been here, he should suffer the fate of the others, and that, if he should not be tried at the next term of Court, they would go to Bedford and hang him there.

INCIDENTS OF THE JAIL BREAKING AND HANGING.

Public indignation has been aroused all over the country ever since the commission of this heinous crime, especially in the western part of the county where the deed was committed, and the eastern part of the county adjoining that part of Washington county where Talley and Brooks were well known. It has transpired that it was the intention to take them out of jail and hang them during Circuit Court, but the river being too high to cross thwarted the plan. The prisoners' having considerable property, employed Colonel C. L. Dunham, the ablest criminal lawyer in the State, for their defense—Brooks having recanted his confession, and a universal impression that our laws are made more to protect outlaws rather than to convict them—these considerations working upon them, the inflamed and excited state of public feeling, no doubt caused the people to take the matter in their own hands, however unjustifiable their course might seem. The mob came undisguised, and consisted of men from Owens and Grassyfork townships in this county, and from Washington county. The jail was under the charge of two men as guards, but the first act of the mob was to approach Sheriff Scott and demand the keys. This demand was promptly refused. Pistols were drawn by both parties but finding the Sheriff unyielding, they broke down doors with sledge hammers. When I arrived at the jail the street in front was filled with horsemen, yelling with impatience for the men to be brought forth. The jail rooms and yards were also crowded with men. But few of the citizens of our town knew it. Sheriff Scott finding resistance futile, did not attempt to rally the citizens of the town in the defence of the prisoners. The prisoners were confined in a room on the second floor. I was passed through the guard at the door, and found Talley standing against the wall in the hall up stairs, with a rope around his neck held by a small young man, with sharp visage, and of dark complexion, surrounded by many other strangers, trying to extort a confession from him. His hat was off, his hands tied behind him, and heavy irons on his feet. He informed them with perfect coolness that he would tell them nothing, that he knew nothing to tell, and that they might hang him, all he asked was to be hanged in a gentlemanly way. His countenance showed not the least emotion of fear. Brooks had been taken to a cell on the first floor, and confessed that he was a party to the robbery, but that Talley alone had killed Mrs. Cutler and that the details of his former confession were true. The cries of the crowd outside became more vociferous. Talley was led down stairs. Just at this time Brooks was being led from the cell below, with a rope around his neck, his hands tied behind him, and heavy irons on his feet the same as Talley. I never before saw a human face show such expressions of fear and cowardice. He begged piteously for his life. The commander of the mob gave the order to move to the Court yard.

In front of the jail Brooks called to Sheriff Scott to take from his pocket a small amount of money, with instructions to send it to his wife and children. He then begged for a drink of water which was brought and given to him and Talley. The prisoners were then led by the light of lamps, carried by hand, to the Court yard, about one hundred yards distant, the crowd following on foot and on horseback. Arriving there, Talley selected the limb on which to be hanged, which was immediately in front of the Recorder's office, and about fifteen feet from the ground.

The young man who had led him from the jail by the rope, ascended the tree and tied the rope to the projecting limb. Talley was then placed on an ash barrel and leaned his back against a locust tree. He was asked whether or not he desired the services of a minister of the Gospel? He replied that he did. The mob consented, but demanded that no time be lost. Rev. Walter Benton, of the Methodist Church, came forward, introduced himself to Talley, and exhorted him to confess to the world his guilt or innocence. Talley replied: "I die an innocent man. If you are a preacher pray for me." A brief prayer was offered, during which the entire crowd took off their hats. Talley then said, "Sir, although I have been a very wicked man, yet I have always been a praying man." Something was said about taking the barrel from under his feet. "Gentlemen," said he, "let me alone and I will swing off myself." He looked up at the limb above him, gradually let the weight of his body on the rope, leaned forward, and was suspended in the air. The muscles of his face showed no signs of pain. His countenance during the whole time he was hanging underwent no change, except a slight change in color. No man ever died more stoically. He died without scarcely a struggle.

As soon as Talley was suspended, Sheriff Scott mounted the barrel and begged the crowd to spare the life of Brooks. He reasoned at some length with them, and the majority seemed to be in favor of sparing him, upon his making a public confession. He was placed on the barrel for the purpose, but was so frightened that he could only say, "The Lord have mercy on my soul! Spare me, spare me!" The crowd shouted back, "Damn you, why didn't you spare the old woman?" Brooks appeared to sink with exhaustion, and was pushed violently from the head of the barrel, the rope having been previously tied above.

After hanging about five minutes his body was raised, so as to shorten the rope. He died hard. One of the mob placed his hands on his shoulders and threw the weight of his own body upon him.

The crowd left town about half-past one o'clock in the night. The bodies were taken down by citizens of the town, carried into the Court House and laid on the tables. Yesterday (Sunday) morning the Coroner held an inquest, which returned a verdict that they had come to their death by the hands of parties unknown.

Talley requested that his body be sent to his wife, in Illinois, which will be done. G.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, April 4, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: Gold, 133¾@134; Eighty-one bonds, 108⅝; Five Twenties, old, 109½; Five Twenties, '64, 107⅜; do, '65, 108¼; do, new, 107¼; Ten Forties, 98½; Seven Thirties, 105⅝. Michigan Southern Railroad, 70¼; Cleveland and Pittsburgh, 75⅝; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago, 92¼@½; Erie, 54⅜; Chicago and Northwestern, 33⅝; do preferred, 62; New York Central, 102½; Chicago and Rock Island, 89½; Reading, 100½.

The money market is very close, and stocks have declined from 1 to 1½ per cent, under a pressure to sell. Gold declined about ¾ per cent, but rallied again this afternoon. The demand for cash gold is increasing, and holders of large lots of Government bonds try to realize on their gold interest falling due in May, lest they might have to accept lower rates then. Lower rates on gold are conceded, even by those who predicted a rise something like fifty per cent before the first of May; the large sales and daily receipts of the government have had the effect of keeping down rates as well as the limited credit of operators in Wall street.

—The bank statements are not calculated to encourage the hopes of easy money or cheap money, except for balances at call without notice. Leading banks which scour the markets to make call loans upon the last dollar of their balances, publish their reports in a form which makes it certain that they are doing a dangerous business, which will not bear the test of the new form of report. What they state as legal tender is largely made up of compound notes, and they are plainly in no condition to see Mr. McCulloch reduce the greenbacks or compounds. Like the stock brokers, who now have time to give daily concerts in the "long room," in the absence of business, too many young and desperate bank officers are keeping every sail they can spread to a breeze which at any moment may increase to a gale in which they will founder.—N. Y. Tribune.

—Mr. A. Louis, an extensive liquor merchant of this city, failed to-day, with liabilities estimated at $500,000. The failure is a bad one, we understand. The Government seized the establishment on Monday, to secure $40,000 due and unpaid, for taxes. Mr. Louis had one branch house at Nashville and two at Memphis, and, as may be inferred, had an extensive business at the South. His house in this city was profitable last year, the net gain being $50,000. This, and the bulk of the capital, seem to have been swallowed up at the South.—Cin. Gazette.

—Our city banks have for the most part done a good business during the last six months. Those national banks which are supposed to be an exception to this remark seemed determined to put a good face upon the matter, and go it as usual on dividends. This may in some instances be a species of bravado which will by no means raise them in the estimation of the community. If the movement in this direction is too strong the National Bank Commissioner will be likely to call their attention to the 56th and 57th sections of the national bank act. A national bank which started and ended in a neighboring State, ran through a singular career. It began with a nominal capital of $50,000. The president held $45,000 of the stock, for which of course he never paid, and five other persons owned the balance. The Government securities deposited with the Comptroller were borrowed, and finally paid for with the currency received from the Comptroller. It received deposits to the amount of $82,000, and lost about half of the same in speculations; $5000 was, therefore, all the capital this bank ever had. How many other national banks were started in the same way!—Phila. Press.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, April 4, 1867.

There was a fair business done in the produce markets to-day, the transactions in Grain especially, being larger than usual, and for most of the leading commodities, prices are tending upward. Flour has still further advanced, while Provisions and Groceries are firm but unchanged.

GRAIN—Wheat is in light supply and firm; sales of 2 cars fair Ohio Red Winter at $2.95. Corn is in demand and higher. Sale of 840 bush Shelled at 80; 4 cars do, on private terms, and 50 sacks at 85. Rye is in demand and firm but unchanged; sales of 4 cars at $1,45. Barley is in demand, with sales of 2 cars common at 85, and 2 cars prime Spring at $1,15. Oats—sales of 2 cars at 57, delivered—may be quoted at 60, in store.

FLOUR—Is firm and somewhat excited, with an upward tendency. We now quote at $13,25 to $13,75 for Spring Wheat; $14,50 to $16,00 for Winter Wheat, and $17 to $18 for fancy brands. Rye Flour is firm, and tending upward; may be quoted at $8 to $8½.

PROVISIONS—Bacon is firm, with sales at 10 to 10¼ for Shoulders; 11¾ to 12 for Ribbed Sides; 13 for Clear Sides, and 16 for Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is selling at 13 to 13¼ for prime kettle rendered. Mess Pork, $23,50 to $23.75.

SEEDS—There is a very good demand for Cloverseed—may be quoted at $9½ to the trade, and $10, in small lots. Timothy Seed is quiet at $3. Flaxseed has declined considerably in the east, and crushers are asking for concessions here.

BUTTER—Prime Roll Butter is in demand with sales at 36 to 38—and choice, in small packages, at 40. Common Butter is plenty and dull.

EGGS—The demand was rather better to-day, and sales were quick at 21—receipts falling off slightly.

HAY—Prime Timothy Hay is in fair demand, with sales on track at $24 to $25 per ton. Inferior and common very dull.

DRIED FRUIT—Is dull; we are cognizant of one dealer who is offering Peaches to the trade at 13c for quarters, and 15 for halves. Apples may be quoted at 8 to 9.

GREEN APPLES—Prime Apples, in good condition are scarce and higher, with sales reported to-day at $5@6 per bbl.

POTATOES—Quiet but steady with regular sales of prime Peach Blows at 85 to 90 cts per bushel.

OIL—Lard Oil is quoted firm at 90 for No. 2, and $1,10 for No. 1.

BEANS—Steady with regular sales of prime small white at $2,75 per bushel.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, April 4, 1867.

CRUDE—The market for Crude was more active to-day, and apparently a shade firmer, though prices are not quotably higher. The transactions in the aggregate, reached nearly eleven thousand barrels, as follows: 3500 for April delivery, seller's option, at 6¾; 1200 on the spot, at 7; 500 do do at 6¾; 1300, on private terms; 475 to arrive, at 6⅝; 3500 for April, seller's option, at 7, and 100 on spot, at 11¼, packages included. From the above, it will be seen that quotations may be fairly given at 6¾ to 7, in bulk and barrels returned, and 11¼ to 12, packages included. The receipts were unusually large to-day, reaching nearly twenty thousand barrels.

REFINED—But a single sale reported to-day, 2500 bbls prime light straw to white, for future delivery, on private terms. There are orders from Philadelphia to buy, but the trouble is to find parties willing to sell at the prices named, and to this may be attributed the comparatively light transactions. Prime light straw to white, for immediate delivery in Philadelphia, may be quoted at 25½, and standard white at 26½ to 26¾. Free oil is quiet and unchanged—40 cts for fifty or one hundred barrel lots, and 41 to 42 in a small way.

ARRIVALS—The following arrivals of oil were reported to-day:

D. Bushnell.......	3200	Fisher & Bro....	8239
Jas. Wilkins.....	3330	A. Y. Gallagher.	2000
J. Gallagher......	2500

CENTRAL LIVE-STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
THURSDAY, April 4, 1867.

CATTLE.

The market was again quiet this week, the reported sales only reaching about 225 head in the aggregate, while so far as prices are concerned, there has been no essential change. Prime to extra cattle may be quoted at 7¾ to 8⅜, gross—one drove of extra Ohio steers, averaging 1600 lbs, could have been sold at nine cents, Smith & Mooney having offered that figure for the entire drove, which was refused. Stockers are in fair demand, and may be quoted at 5½ to 6¼, gross, according to quality and condition, and these may be regarded as the extremes of the market. There were some two or three Philadelphia buyers in attendance, but so far as we could learn, they bought nothing, being unable to get the grade of cattle suitable for that market at what they considered fair prices—indeed, the supply was so small that there was but very little chance to make selections. In regard to freights between here and Chicago, there is nothing new to be said, though it is reasonable to suppose that the reduction from 55 to 25 cents per cwt, will have a tendency to increase materially the arrivals of stock.

SHEEP.

There was a fair business done in Sheep this week, but under the influence of increased arrivals, the market was a shade weaker, and compared with last week, prices are a shade lower. The total sales reported reached 3412 head at prices ranging all the way from 6¾ to 8, gross—one drove of extra sold this forenoon at 8¼, but this is an outside price. There was also a sale of 180 head at 8, and five dollars premium. As already intimated, there was a fair demand, but in consequence of increased receipts, the market yesterday and to-day was a little "offish."

HOGS.

The transactions were fair, reaching in the aggregate, 3558 head, at prices ranging all the way from 6¼ to 8⅜, gross. Compared with last week, prices are lower, which is in consequence of unfavorable advices from the east. Philadelphia Hogs, which last week sold clear up to 8.60 and 8,70 did not command above 8⅜ this week, and there were but few sold above ¼. New York Hogs sold at from 7 to 7¼, against 7¾ to 7¾ last week.

REPORTED SALES OF CATTLE.

Hahn to McArdle, 11 head, weighing 13,200 at 7¼; same to same 10, at 7½; same to same, 10 at 7½; same to same, 10 at 10¼; Lafferty to Hathaway & Co. 47 head, at 7⅝. Gardiner to Maynes & Co. 74 head at 7¼ to 7½. Aull & Co. to Shamberg, 34 head at 8. Robinson to Wernz, 17 head at 5¾. Todd to same buyer 3 at 8. Herwig to Lowrey, 4, weighing 5625, at 8¼. Blackwood to Young, 8head, weighing 10,975, at 8.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

New York Financial Matters.

NEW YORK, April 4.—The money market is stringent and active, and the trouble is ascribed to the large and sudden drafts on the National Banks by the Government. Those institutions are said to have to pay into the Treasury two and a half millions, and only first class borrowers got supplied on call at seven per cent. The weaker class of brokers and operators either paid seven per cent. and a commission, or legal sale in gold. There was, however, a more cheerful feeling just previous to the close of bank hours, and money was offered at seven per cent. currency. The high rates of interest is already attracting counter-balances.

Gold steady all forenoon, at 133¾ @133⅞, but declined slightly in the afternoon, but closing steady, however, at 133½. Government sale had no effect. Sterling weak, at 8¾@8⅞ for prime 60 days, and 9¼@9½ for short sight, importers holding off under the belief that gold must decline. Railway market opened steady in the long room with a panicky feeling, and with a renewed disposition to press sales on all the leading speculative shares; there were further sharper declines and lower prices made since the present depression set in; New York Central declined to 101¾; Erie to 54⅛; Reading 100½; Michigan Southern, 69¾; Pittsburgh, 96; Rock Island, 89⅛; North Western, common, 33½; do preferred, 60⅞, and Fort Wayne, 91.

William Heath & Co. report the following prices at 5:30 P. M.: Gold 133⅝; Ohio certificates 25¾; Canton 44⅞@45⅜; Cumberland 30; Quicksilver 31@32½; Mariposa 7¾@8; do preferred 21¾@22; Western Union Telegraph 41⅛@41¼; New York Central 101¼@101⅜; Erie 55⅛@55⅜; Hudson 136@136¼; Reading 101; Michigan Southern 70¼@70 3-4; Illinois Central 113@115; Toledo 118¼@119¼; Rock Island 89⅝@89 3-4; Northwestern 33 3-4@34; preferred 62⅛@62¼; Fort Wayne 92⅞@92 3-4; Pacific Mail 121¼@122; Atlantic 80@81½.

Governments opened dull and lower, and closed steady though quiet; registered '81, 109@109¼; coupons, '81, 109@109¼; 5-20s, registered '62, 108¼@109; 5-20 coupons '62, 109⅛@109¼; 5-20 coupons '64, 107⅜@107¾; 5-20 coupons '65, 107⅜@108¼; 5-20 coupons January and July 107⅛@107¼; 10-40s registered, 97⅞@98; 10-40 coupons, 97⅞@98⅛; August 106@106¼; June 7-30s, 105⅛@105¼. Some unusually heavy sales of bonds were made by the Treasury, within the past few days.

Border State bonds are inactive; Missouri 95¼; do Hannibal and St. Joe, 81. Miscellaneous stocks are heavy and lower. Coal stocks are steady. The Mining share market was more active. Gregory opened at 835, and fell off to 810, but recovered to 830. Corydon advanced to 460@465, and was in good demand. Columbia is firm at 315@320. Alameda is steady and in request at 840. Quartz Hill declined to 250, and closed firm at 265@270. The business in other shares is light, and the fluctuations were unimportant.

New York Produce Market.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Cotton is heavy and fully 1c lower; sales 3,200 bales, at 28c for middling uplands, and by auction 3,200 bales of Georgia, for Government account, at 25c for strictly low middling; 24½c for good ordinary, and 22½c for ordinary. Flour more active, and 5@10c better; receipts 25e bbls; sales 10,900 bbls, at $9,75@10,80 for superfine State and western; $11@12,45 extra western; $12,50@14 for choice do; $11,75@12,70 for shipping brands of extra round hoop Ohio, and $12,80@14 for trade brands, the market closing firm. California Flour in fair request; sales 1,250 bbls, at $11@16. Whisky quiet; no receipts. Wheat more active and 1@2c better; sales 54,500 bush. at $2,50@2,52 for No. 2 Milwaukee, and $2,45 for No. 2 and 3 Milwaukee mixed. Rye firmer; sales 25,500 bush, at $1,37@1,40½ for western. Barley heavy; sales 36,000 bush, at $1,19@1,21 for Canada West free; 93c do in bond; $1,10 for 2 rowed State, and $1,25 for Canada West free, deliverable at Albany. Barley Malt dull. Corn less active and about 10c lower, receipts 5,725 bush; sales 36,000 bush, at $1,19@1,20 for common to prime western mixed in store. $1,22½ do afloat; $1,17½ for new western mixed; $1,21 western yellow in store and $1,19 Southern yellow to arrive. Oats dull; sales 26,000 bus. at 66@68c for old Western; 68@70c for new do., and 73@73½ for State afloat. Rio quiet at 10@10½c for Carolina. Coffee firm. Sugar ½c higher, with sales 500 bbls. Cuba at 10@11c. Molasses firm; sales 100 bbls. Cuba at 50c. Petroleum dull; 16@16½c for crude, and 25@27½c for refined in bond. Hops, 30@65c for new. Pork lower; sales 4,250 bbls. at $23,55@23,75 for new mess, closing $23,55 cash; $22,37 for old mess; $19,76@20,12 for prime, and $22,25@22,52 for prime mess. Beef firm; sales 400 bbls. at previous prices. Beef Hams unchanged. Bacon dull; sales 225 boxes at 10½c for Cumberland cut, and 11½c for short ribbed. Cut Meats dull; sales 335 packages at 9@10c, shoulders. 12½@13½c. Lard dull; sales 7,000 bbls. at 12@13½c for new. Butter unchanged; 16@15c for Ohio. Cheese, 12@19c.

LATEST—5 P. M.—The Flour market is fairly active and 5@10c better. Wheat is in fair speculative demand for spring for western account; No 2 spring $2,48@2,53; No 1 spring $2,65@2,70. Pork dull, with sellers for new mess at $23,62½ cash for regular, and $24,55 cash for seller for April; buyers at $23,50 and sellers at $23,63½. Beef steady, with a fair enquiry. Cut meats nominally unchanged. Bacon quiet at 10¾ for Cumberland middles. Lard 12⅞@13¼ for fair to prime.

Cincinnati Market.

CINCINNATI, April 4.—Flour firm, but demand light, at the last quotations. Wheat firm and in light supply, but prices have not changed; No 2 winter $2,87@2,90; No 1 $2,97@3,00; No 2 spring is held at $2,50@2,53. Corn opened with a good deal of excitement in the market, and prices run up to 85c for No 1 in bulk, and 95@97c sacked—the demand is chiefly for that sacked, but the feeling was less buoyant at the close, still owing to light receipts and a small stock—holders were firm at quotations. Oats advanced to 70@71c, and the supply not equal to the demand. Rye sold at $1,65, and but little to be had even at this rate. Barley firm, but quiet; prime to choice fall $1,50@1,55; spring $1,20@1,30. Cotton dull and prices unsettled and nominal at 25½@26c for middling; no demand. Whisky dull, held at $2,26@2,26½ in bond. RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede slowly at this point with nine feet three inches in the channel by the Allegheny marks last evening. A telegram from Oil City in the early part of the day reported fifty inches in the channel at that point. The weather yesterday was cloudy and close, and towards evening there was every appearance of rain.

The Ingomar, from Matamoras, and Bayard, from Parkersburg, were the only arrivals from below. The Robt. Moore, from Portsmouth, was due last night, and will be found in port this morning.

The Kenton, for New Orleans, with a fair trip, was the only transient departure. Robt. Wasson and Crate Reno were her pilots.

Capt. J. W. Porter, an old steamboatman, but who for some years past has been engaged in the oil business, has gone into the commission business for the sale of pig metal and blooms. We wish him success in his new vocation. Capt. Ed. Evans, of the Westmoreland, is on a visit to his family. He left the boat at Cincinnati in charge o the clerk, Mr. James Vandergrift, formerly of the Pittsburgh Custom House. Capt. E. expects to commence to load for New Orleans again next week.

The Bellevernon, Capt. Darragh, will positively leave for St. Louis to-day. The Lorena, Capt. Shuman, is next in turn after the Bellevernon.

Capt. Marsh Hays and Tom Morris are the "star gazers" on the Bellevernon. The Minnie, from St. Louis, was due last night, and will doubtless be found at the wharf this morning.

The Maggie Hays having been delayed at Cincinnati, will not be here to go out on Saturday, and the Ezra Porter, therefore, will be the regular packet for that day. The Porter is a splendid passenger steamer, and persons going on her will be well treated every particular.

The Dubuque, Capt. Parker, will positively leave for the Upper Mississippi on Saturday. She is a bran new boat, and in point of safety, comfort and beauty, has but few equals in the western country. The Columbia, Capt. Reed, is also loading for the Upper Mississippi.

The Glendale left Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Tuesday, and the Maggie Hays was advertised to follow on Wednesday, The New York, en route from St. Louis to Pittsburgh, was at Evansville on Tuesday, and the Luella arrived at Cincinnati the same day, on her to the gold regions.

The Leonidas has gone up the Wabash river to load for New Orleans. The towboat Tigress arrived at Louisville on Tuesday, and the Glasgow passed Evansville the same day on her way to St. Louis

The Armenia, from St. Louis, and the Emma No. 3, from New Orleans, arrived at Cincinnati on Tuesday, and the Messenger arrived at New Orleans on Monday. The Emma made the round trip to New Orleans and back in nineteen days. The Armenia was advertised to leave Cincinnati for Pittsburgh on Wednesday.

The Memphis papers are in extacies over the Great Republic. The Avalanche says: The arrival of the Great Republic created great excitement. The long expected and much talked of Great Republic arrived yesterday afternoon, and landed at the city wharf boat. Her arrival was the signal for that portion of the levee to be thronged with people, many of whom had been on the lookout for the great Pittsburgh steamer, and in a short time those portions of her decks and cabins accessible to the public were crowded. Owing to the large number of through passengers aboard, a great proportion of whom were ladies—mainly from Pittsburgh, on an excursion—the entire boat was not thrown open to those unpossessed of the "open sesame." We are informed by Capt. Donaldson that on her return from New Orleans she will lie here several hours to afford all an opportunity of "going through. The Great Republic cost $320,000, and is a magnificent specimen of marine architecture, far exceeding our expectations.

Says the Bulletin: The event of the day was the arrival of the mammoth Great Republic at the city wharfboat. Her appearance brought thousands to the landing. The most ardent anticipations of size and splendor were exceeded, and upon all sides it was agreed that the Mississippi has never borne upon her bosom anything that will bear comparison to this new triumph of western steamboat building. Even the "Bard of Blind Alley" brought forth his lyre and discoursed most eloquent music in praise of the great steamer and her officers. He could not well do otherwise. Public sentiment was too strong and prevailed.

Chas. Schultz, well known among river men, died suddenly at Cincinnati on Tuesday morning. He was ill only a few hours.

Colonel Dan. G Taylor, recently appointed Supervising Inspector for the Fourth District Missouri (St. Louis), in the place of Witzig, entered upon the duties of his office on Sunday. Exit Witzig.

The Richmond made a trial trip on Monday last, and if we can place any reliance in what the Louisville papers say, her machinery worked well.

The Yorktown left St. Louis for the mountains on Saturday last. The Democrat of Monday, says:

We learn from boatmen desiring loads for the mountains that rates are drooping too much for their calculations. The men referred to want no freight at less than ten cents per pound. They believe there can be no profit in the rate of eight cents, and a decided loss in lower rates. The Anna White goes to the mountains. The departures Saturday and Sunday include six steamers for the Rocky Mountains, with trips that will, it is thought, average to each boat a clear profit of—we hesitate here but can safely say it will not be over $30,000.
